6. Presentation: Career Jam Proposal

Ryan Vanamburgh, SEDC

Ryan shared very preliminary information about a “Career Jam” being proposed by SEDC for this 3 county region. Based upon a highly successful event staged last spring in Jefferson County, Career Jam is intended to give 8th and 9th grade students early exposure in their secondary school years to prospective job and career opportunities which exist in this region. Employers representing industry clusters across the region will provide “hands-on” activities designed to engage and give students an experiential introduction to various job opportunities which hopefully serve to pique their curiosity and interest. Ryan indicated that subsequent meetings will be held with key partners to confirm their interest in holding an inaugural Career Jam in this region and then begin discussing and planning the event.

4. Presentation: Adult Machine Tool Technology Training Program Lou Buck, et.al.

Lou introduced the presentation by providing a brief overview of the training program which covered its origins, development and employer involvement highlighting the key role play by area machine shops. He then introduced Jason Viele, the AMTT instructor, Ed Leonard, Shop Supervisor at Seeley Machine and Tim Hack, a recent AMTT graduate and machinist at Seeley Machine. Each of the presenters shared information from their individual perspectives about the training program. The presentation prompted a number of questions and comments followed by a lengthy follow up discussion.

7. Update on board/Center Activities

a. Board Operations:

- Bill provided an update on the grant funded “Pathways Project for Advanced Manufacturing” advising the project was initiated with a SWOT analysis along with a survey of regional manufacturers including personal interviews intended to derive feedback covering employment needs and skills expectations for entry level employees. Both were conducted by the Center for Economic Growth(CEG) as Project Manager. Deliverables for the project include: curriculum for a pre-manufacturing training program, information to build awareness of the manufacturing industry particularly targeting younger people and a “Career Ladder Pathway” model to be posted on the WDB website.

- Bill also discussed recent developments with NY Wired. Representatives from the company and Bill met with various organizations in the health care industry to share information about how their organizations could benefit from NY Wired’s on-line programs specifically developed for the health care industry. Bill cited as an example of the benefits which could be derived from industry specific programs involving a chemical engineer who successfully completed an on-line course on Project Management vs. traveling out of state to attend similar training.
- Bill concluded his comments by informing the WDB that a contractor has been identified and engaged to construct the WDB’s new website.

b. Center Directors

- Lisa Scaccia informed the WDB that 75 youths have been signed up for the Summer Youth Program with employment opportunities in both the profit and non-for-profit sectors. She also announced that a “Career Fair” would be staged on July 11th for much needed seasonal workers in Saratoga.
- Chris Hunsinger commented that outplacement efforts have been conducted for dislocated Genpak employees. He mentioned the Warren County Career Center participated in a hiring event held in April in Lake George as well as another in May held by the Lake George Chamber of Commerce. Additional job fairs were staged at 333 Glen Street on May 25th and at the same location with NYS DOL on June 12th. The Summer Youth Program has enrolled 44 youths.
- Dave Conroe shared the news that of the 5 staff members at the Washington County One-Stop, unfortunately 3 had been diagnosed cancer. Dave further advised that while Katie Foster has returned to work, highly respected and longtime counselor Carolyn Galloway sadly passed away in the spring after a protracted battle with cancer. Program activity included the enrollment of 35 youth in their Summer Youth Program.
